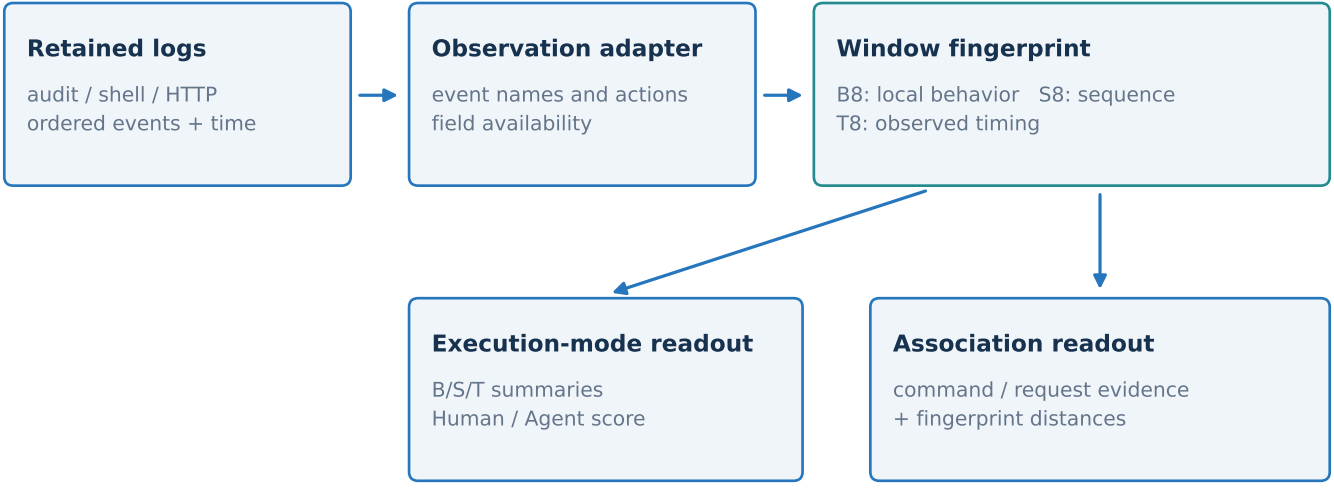
From log observations to two analytical readouts



Window count J follows trace length; unavailable measurements retain an explicit mask.